HIS IDEAL WORK DAY

President Gompers Addresses South Side Glass Workers,

ADVANCING THE EIGHT HOUR PLAN

How it Pays to Make the Workman Broader, Better and Happier.

AN INDUSTRIAL VIEW OF THE THING

President Samuel Gompers, of the Feder ation of Trades, who was delayed by the latest wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and did not get to Rock Point in time to speak before the American Flints Saturday at their picuic, delivered an address yesterday a ternoon in Odd Fellows' Hall, Southside, under the auspices of the Flints. Four other labor meetings were going on at the same time, having a tendency to divert the attendance; still a good audience turned out to hear the exponent of the eight-hour labor system, and all listened for fully two hours without an abatement of interest. Mr. Gompers is an easy, clear speaker, and very logical in his arguments. He is well nown in this city, the first meeting of the ganization of which he is the head aving been held here. The following is a fast dripping from the gaping wound in his stomach. speak before the American Flints Saturtving been held here. The following is a esume of his speech: The question of labor has been too often disussed without a remedy being suggested. nere are too many who, when suggesting remies, fly to the chimerical or ideal; too many to deal with the impracticable instead of the actical and divert the thoughts from present eds. The men who do this, I think, are doing at which they do not believe. Any question he movement that is not based upon logic a ats surroundings as well as its theory, is no light. We, as workmen, desire to obtain the highest wages possible for our work. We have 'een told that we are never satisfied, but al-

A BLEMISH, OR A CREDIT? If what they say is a blemish on our conduct, we ought to know it. If, on the other hand, it s a credit to us, we ought to know it. The this principle that moves the world. The dis-content of the masses is the means to better. Saturday night. The result of the order was his principle that moves the world. The disthe condition of man. To the charge that we waist more, we say the country where the people have more is the most prosperous place. We want more; we insist on having more, and on continuing to have more until we have the full results of our labor. The quacks and each put up a fine of $3 and costs. The sophists will have to learn that the laborer will have more. The purpose of the labor organizations is to concentrate the isolated efforts of the workmen into one channel, and in it obtain the best result with the least injury to all classes. I maintain that the labor organiza-tions of the world are the conservative leaders of the universe.

In spe aking of the cry against the workmen controlling the law of supply and demand in the matter of labor, I insist that the trusts and combinations are formed to this end by the wealthy, by controlling the supply and demand of the product handled; and why should not the laborer do the same thing? If the laborers on the streets are a constant menace to the laborer out of the streets, ready to take his place and rise upon his fallen form, they ought to be given work and thus put out of the way to be given work and thus put out of the way of hindering the advancement to the cause. Now, if we reduce the hours of labor, will a reduction of wages follow? Will your condition deteriorate? Let us see. If the hours of labor are reduced, don't you know that it brings factors that tend to raise your condition? First, you are given a chance to provide for the unemployed, and do away with their competition. Again, you make them consumers. This is not only a question of piece or day work. I advise the laborers to even submit for a while to a reduction, and in less than a month they will obtain an increase.

nently improve the condition of a people you must improve their habits. A man who works 16 to 18 hours per daxens no chance to expand his intelligence and at ate desire for a better condition. Whathe works he to form desire for better the work from ad of having time

We want to get down to eight hours because it will give us higher wages, more time to think, more time to cultivate inteligence. In 1890 the banner will be unfurled with eight hours for rest, eight hours for work and eight hours for what we please; and the only way to check corporations in their efforts to crush the laborers is to form one solid organization with When President Gompers had finished a gertleman in the audience asked him if the migration from Europe would not soon ill the places of our own unemployed, granting that they all received work under the proposed reform. He answered that it would be better to dispose of those now idle than to let the coming immigration increase he number, and that they must look to the resent needs. He also said that the emrould just so much more make a demand or products. The immigration will not multiply if the condition of the workmen of Europe also is better; they will not want to ne to this country. He said that the ration of Trades simed to carry the at-hour system all over the world.

CONNERS OUT OF DANGER.

The Victim of the Southside Stabbing Affray Will Recover-Black Jack, His Assallant, Arrested.

Michael Conners, the man who was stabbed early yesterday morning in Sligo, on the Southside, was resting easily last night, and is considered by the physicians at the Homeopathic Hospital to be out of danger. Unless blood poisoning sets in, he will be out of the hospital within a week. His assailant, Neal Dougherty, alias Black Jack, or "Bloodthirsty," was arrested at 5:10 o'clock yesterday morning, by Special Officers Denniston and Robinson, and is now at the Twenty-eighth ward station

Conners lived in Clinton, and not Sligo row, as has been published. On Saturday night his mother sent him up to the Smithfield street bridge to meet his father, who

Eight men who had been arrested in the raid on each put up a fine of $3 and costs. The proprietor was held. Namee John, an Arabian, had been arrested for molesting a 10-year-old Italian girl who was sweeping out a nallway at 103 Water street, Saturday afternoon. The Magistrate only fined the Arabian $25 and Joseph Coll and Benjamin Hughes were arrested for fighting at the Smithfield street bridge. At the hearing Hughes proved that Coll had insulted Hughes' 13-year-old daughter as she was passing along the street, and blackguarded her when she threatened to call the police. When Hughes heard of this he attacked Coll. The Magistrate sent Coll 30 days to the workhouse, and Hughes was discharged. Martin Ward got 30 days for throwing a brick which struck Officer Hilderheedt on the head struck Officer Hilderbrecht on the head.

A MARKED INCREASE

Our P. O. Money Order Business Grows a Third in Three Years.

OVER $4,000,000 FOR LAST YEAR.

Marvelous Extent of the System and Som-Novel Features.

LADY TELLERS DON'T LOSE A DOLLAR

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fiscal year in the Money Order Department of the Pittsburg Postoffice came to an end. During the year the Pittsburg office did a business of over $4,000,000, sending to and receiving money from almost every quarter of the globe. It was a marvelous growth of business, and, to a certain extent, is a barometer of the prosperity of the city. Below will be found the most interesting details from the report of the business done Domestic money orders issued since June 30, 1888, $229,891 85; paid, $797,875 87. Postal notes issued, $44,267 50; paid, $79,352 06. British money orders issued, $48,775 16; paid, $11,151 20; German, issued, $29,824 72; paid, $20,096 71 Italian, issued, $19,003 92; paid, only $205 11. Total receipts for the year, including money orders and postal notes issued, cash and drafts from other offices ($1,508,152 83) and fees from the business of the office, $2,002,645 09. Total disbursements, including money orders and notes paid out and remittances to Philadelphia ($1,079,265), $2,002,645 09.

The Southside station's account fo the year balances at $30,051 88, including $26,-874 55 on money orders issued, and $6,022 79 on money orders paid. The East End station's footing for the year is $26,-280 35, embracing $23,790 06 in money orders issued. Station B, Lawrenceville, $21,827 13; money orders issued, $19,839 81 The total net receipts of the Pittsburg Money Order Department for the year end-ing June 30, 1889, including stations, was $4,082,626 60. The total business for the year ending June 30, 1886, was $3,070,297 94. This is a gain in three years of $1,012,-328 66, or 32 per cent. Probably no other feature of the public usiness of this country has such extensive ramifications, or has grown so fast in public favor, as the money order business of the Postoffice Department. The figures are amazing, interesting and instructive, and especially so with regard to the internation al features. REACHING EVERYWHERE. The remote corners of the world have bee invaded by this system, and the transmission of money so jealously guarded that the thieves of the world have abandoned the money-order system as the one human scheme that baffles the craftiest of their tribe. The money-order mayiget lost in the Azores or thrown into the Atlantic or Pacific Ocean, or become-ice bound in Norway, or be torn to shreds in Singapore or Malacca; but it is still worth its face, and must be duplicated at the paying office upon the demand of the payee and without proof of loss. The checks and guards against imposition are such that no questions are asked except the date of the issue for reference, and the amount and the number of the order, or the names of the parties in interest.

Twenty-two foreign countries have now a complete and direct exchange system with this country, with an indirect exchange with almost every spot on the map of the

THE PROFITS AT HOME. cities of the country we get back about $2 50, and that while we send to Philadelphia over $1,000,000 from the surplus, we get $1,500,000 from the country offices in return.

This immense business, aggregating in This immense business, aggregating in the last year more than $4,000,000, without the loss of a dollar, and reaching out over the world to conditions and races of people that we can know but little about, is handled and conducted in the Pittsburg office by five ladies. Miss Steel is superintendent of the division, assisted by Misses Diehl, Heinle and O'Brien, while Mrs. Hammet issues the certificates of credit.

The growth of business at the recently established stations on Southside and in Lawrenceville shows that the necessity that existed for their establishment and their value to the people of these localities. The East Liberty station, although the oldest by many years and surrounded by a large and wealthy class of people, has lost its rank in point of business, and is now second on the list, with Station B forging to the front, ready almost to dispute for second place.

THE CONTRACT FINISHED.

City Are Lights All Up-The Last Twent fire Lighted Last Night-The Iscand cent Lamps Come Next.

Yesterday the time specified in the ract between the city and the East End Elec tric Light Company expired, and last night all the arc lights in the entire city, number-ing 493, were lighted. On Saturday night the Southside and the West End arc lights were put in the circuit, and last night the last 25 lights-those on Hiland avenue were illuminated.

This makes the East End Electric Light Company the largest are light plant in the country, and the building specially erected to do the city work is about completed. It is a large brick structure covering an area 50x100 feet. It is fitted up with two Babcock & Wilcox boilers of 900 horse power each. Beside that, there are eight Westinghouse automatic engines and 16 dynamos, or are-light machines. From each of these machines 35 are lights will be supplied.

Superintendent Shane, of the East End Electric Light Company, stated to a DISPATCH reporter that the Pittsburg are light plant is the largest and most complete in the country. He says the wiring of the city embraces 800 miles, covering a distance something like that from Pittsburg to Kansas City. This amount of wire weighs, roughly estimated, about 350,000 pounds.

The contract for incandescent lighting is the next thing to be done. There are now about 1,100 lamps distributed over the city; but there are to be 2,500 put up, and the Department of Public Works is rapidly getting ready with the specifications. It is exeach. Beside that, there are eight Westingting ready with the specifications. It is expected that all these lights will be finished direct from the dynamo, 35 lamps at a time. All the incandescent lamps, however, are turned on by use of the switch.
